Is this occupation in demand?

Step 1. Click on the tab "Services for Individuals." (Then choose Web theme or text.)

Step 2. Click on "Career Services."

Step 3. Click on "Career Informer."

Step 4. Select an area. Either choose the map "Tennessee Statewide" OR choose "A Workforce Investment Area" and then select a local workforce investment area (LWIA).

Step 5. Using one of the three options, find an occupation that interests you.

Steps 6 and 7. Click on the occupation title to get a labor market summary, and then click on the bar "Display more information about this occupation" below the summary.

Step 8. On this page with many types of information, click on "Supply and Demand."

Step 9. In the "Local Occupational Analysis" section, find the term describing the outlook for the cluster of occupations. A sentence starts "The outlook for the cluster" followed by a term such as Excellent or Very Good. The next sentence will tell you whether the occupation is expected to be in demand. This cannot be guaranteed, however, because many factors affect employers' hiring decisions.
